Keynote Speaker

Cynthia Davis has been involved in what she calls "Telling the Story of the People of God" for most of her life. Even as a child, Davis found joy in discussing the Bible stories that form the foundation of our faith. Her grounding in the Word of God has helped her see God's action throughout her faith journey. Her novels, blog posts, and other writings grew out of sharing the truth that God is Love. "Women and men within the Bible were real people, just like each of us, yet God chose to love them," Davis says. "God chooses to loves us, too, even with our faults and failings." As retreat leader and speaker, Davis presents a variety of topics, reminding attendees of their call as God's Beloved children, and telling the story of God's work with all of us. Since 2000, Davis has authored a dozen books, including seven books of Biblical fiction. She tells the 'rest of the story' by imagining what might have been and enjoys introducing the stories of Bible women and men during her retreats.

Cynthia (Cindy) Davis will help us find inspiration by looking at women throughout the ages who shared the light of the God's Love in the world of their time. These faith-filled women can inspire our faithful response to our own challenges. Women like Miriam, Mary, Julian of Norwich, Hildegard of Bingen, and even Florence Nightingale all listened to the voice of God in difficult times. They responded with love. Their lives show us the light of God's Love and teach us how to carry God's Love into the world today.
